

The 30th David L. Swanson Match

Sponsored by The Corporal Digby Hand Schützenverein and The Manchester Rifle Club

Hosted by the Quaker Hill Rod and Gun Club

A CLASSIC CONNECTICUT JUNIOR RIFLE MATCH ON A TRADITIONAL SHOOTING WEEKEND.

The late David L. Swanson was a very active member of the Manchester Rifle Club during the 1960-61 season. Taken ill, his shooting career was tragically cut short when he passed away as a teenager. The Swanson family, wishing to recognize his passion for small-bore rifle shooting, donated a handsome trophy to his memory to the Manchester Rifle Club to be placed into annual junior competition.

The first Swanson match was first held in 1963 and continued, uninterrupted until 1986 when issues with the Manchester range caused a halt. Jason Stansfield took custody of the trophy and records with the hopes of reviving competition. While reminiscing about 'The Old Days' with Hap and Steve Rocketto the Swanson Match came up and they dedicated themselves to bring the match back. And so, through three long time Connecticut junior coaches the Swanson match returned to competition in 2015.

SWANSON MATCH HISTORY

The original course of fire was 20 shots prone on the A-17 target for sub-juniors. Juniors shot two matches, one of 20 shots with ten shot in each of prone and standing and a second of another 20 with ten each for sitting and kneeling. The Swanson Trophy was awarded to the junior with the highest aggregate score in both matches.

Additionally, there were paper team matches of two and four man teams counting scores from the two position matches and a four man sub junior team event.

When the match was revived in 2015 it featured a three position match for juniors and a 30 shot prone match for sub-juniors on the A-17 target along with four person teams in each division.

While the match was exciting it always seemed that the most important part of the Swanson for most of the kids was gobbling down the inexpensive, but tasty, hot dogs-the only item on the snack bar menu, if one can dignify a small card table set in the corner of the range by that title.

The Swanson Match was, in many cases, the first major individual victory for many of the winners, Jesse Johnston, one of only two two time winners, went on an All American collegiate career at Tennessee Tech, shot on the US Dewar Team, and was the youngest shooter ever to gain membership to the United States Pershing Team.

Barbara Gilnack was the first women to win the Swanson to be followed by Chris Bozzo.

David Lyman followed family tradition and ran the junior programs out of Blue Trail Range. He earned Distinguished in prone and position was well membership on the US Dewar Team and a few National Championships in his shooting career.

Gurrie Fandozzi was a member of the US Dewar Team and he and Dan Whaley shot on the All National Guard Small-bore Team.

With such lineage who know where the future winners of the Swanson Trophy may find themselves?
